The State Attorney's Graphic Outline of the Great Conspiracy,

Which Culminated in the "Removal" of the Doctor.

The Question Whether Cronin Was a Spy Playing an Important Part.

sifting of veniremen which resulted in the selection of the 12 men before him, defined the duties of jurymen, and defined the meaning of presumption of innocence. It was, he said, a mere negative which stood in the way of conviction in the absence of evidence, but must not be allowed to weaken the force of the evidence given. He next defined the meaning of reasonable doubt, which, he said, must not be so stretched as to permit the juror to avoid doing his duty.

stretched as to permit the juror to avoid doing his duty.

The State's Attorney then proceeded to define murder, and set forth what were the material allegations in the indictment which it will be necessary to prove. They were that Dr. Cronin was killed; that the killing was done in this State; that it was done without adequate provocation, and that these defendants did it. He then defined direct and circumstantial evidence, then spoke of the disappearance of Dr. Cronin and the finding of his body 18 days afterward, and said the State proposed to prove that the murder was the result of a conspiracy.

MOTIVE FOR THE CRIME.

that the murder was the result of a conspiracy.

MOTIVE FOR THE CRIME.

Judge Longenecker then proceeded to speak of the motive of the crime. He said, in order to show what that motive was, it became necessary to examine into the history in this country of the organization known as the United Brotherhood, commenty called the Clan-as-Gael. Before doing this, he reminded the jury that they were not trying the Clan-na-Gael, but the prisoners at the bar. He then proceeded to sketch the history of the Clan-na-Gael, and as the triangie was supreme; that the oaths of the members made their commands superior to the Nation.

Forrest objected to this line of statement a inadmissible in advance of proof.

Associated as a devance of proof.

THE TREACHEROUS TRIANGLE.

The State's Attorney then went on to say that the membership did not know who say that the membership did not know who constituted the Triangle, so secret was it, but nevertheless they obeyed its orders and were sent on various missions in England in the way of active work and under assumed names. Notwithstanding this secrecy, these men were betrayed by the board to English authorities, and 20 of them are now in prison. This was, he declared, to enable the board to steal the funds, and at the last showing made the board claimed that the order owed them $13,000, when there was $250,000 in the treasury when they took charge.

At this point the State's Attorney introduced Dr. Cronin's connection with the order and proceeded to sketch the history of his fight against the Triangle. He told of Cronin's expulsion, the subsequent union convention, the trial of Sullivan, Feeley and Boland by a secret committee of which and Boiand by a secret committee, of which Dr. Cronin was a member, in Buffalo a year ago last August. The State's Attorney went on to say that the committee was in session three days hearing evidence, which he stated would be introduced during the trial.

CRONIN KNEW TOO MUCH. the committee. The report was not made to the camps till a day or two after Cronin's death, and even then Cronin's part was death, and even then Cronin's part was suppressed. It was sent out in this shape in the belief that his body would never be found. It was sufficient to make way with Cronin, but the same unseen hand that regulated the conspiracy from its inception, had to make it appear also that Cronin was a traitor, for if Cronin had published his evidence against the Triangle, as he was about to do, it meant the ruin of the Triangle with the Irish people, and to have it published to all the camps was to convict these men of embezzling these funds that had been accumulated for years. It would have proved them raitors to the Irish cause, proved them not only embezzlers, violators of the laws of two countries, traitors to the cause in which these people had enlisted, instead of doing that which was to benefit poor old Ireland, but it would brand them the worst men on earth among the Irish people. That was the object.

The State's Attorney then went on to show how Coughlin began denouncing Cronin as a spy way back in February; how Beggs, at a certain meeting of the camp, said Cronin's denunciation of Sullivan and the Triangle had to be stopped, If it took blood.

Beggs, on the 18th, wrete back that while there was no written law for this, there was a law, and the matter had to be investigated or there would be trouble.

On the following day a man giving the name of Simonds rented a flat at 117 Clark street, opposite Dr. Cronin's office. He bought furniture and a large trunk and moved in. On the 20th of March Martin Burke appeared at the Carlson cottage under the name of Frank Williams, rented the cottage, and then, after talking with O'Sullivan, went to 117 Clark street, and moved the furniture to the cottage. Some time in April O'Sullivan, made an arrangement with Cronin, by which, if the latter received one of O'Sullivan's cards, he was to accompany the measurer in ouler to attend profes-

COUGHLIN'S SINISTER WORDS.

Before that Daniel Coughlin had declared in a saloon that there was a certain North Side man, a leading Catholic, that would soon bite the ground, or something to that effect. O'Sullivan was with Coughlin that night. Longenecker told about Coughlin's arrangement with the livery stable keeper, Dinan, and said the State will prove that Coughlin was seen going into the Carlson cottage on the night of the murder, and that a horse and buggy procured at 'Hinan's livery stable were the horse and buggy which drove Dr. Cronin to the cottage. At a meeting of Camp 20 on the night of May 3d, someone inquired whether that secret committee had reported, whereupon Beggs said "that committee is to report to me, and not to the camp."

ommittee had reported, whereupon Beggs said "that committee had reported, whereupon Beggs said "that committee is to report to me, and not to the camp."

"We will prove," said Longenecker, "that Coughlin told other parties that Cronin was a spy; that a year before he tried to hire a man to sing Dr. Cronin. We will prove that O'Sullivan was seen at a certain point on the night of May 4th, showing that he was in the neighborhood and was not in his house at the time. On the 6th of May Martin Burke had a box, the contents of which were not seen, soldered up by a tinsmith. Where that box is or what became of it no one knows, but it is an important circumstance in the case. We will prove that Kunze was seen in the flat on Clark street at the time it was occupied; that he had been intimate with Coughlin; that he and Coughlin were at Peoria together; that Kunze stated to a man, when the papers were talking about Cronin's disappearance, that he (Kunze) knew that Cronin was murdered. After the discovery of the body, and its identification, Martin Burke left the city under an assumed name. He was arrested in Winning, having in his possession a ticket to Liverpool." Mr. Longenecker went on to say that any one who looks at the facts or evidence can see very readily that the acts committed are of themselves conclusive that they are the result of a conspiracy."

He went on them at considerable length to define the nature of a conspiracy, and the liability of the accessories. He added that the State would present the evidence as speedily as possible.

Counsel for the defense then one by one walved their right to make each an opening address, and the taking of testimony began.

The first witness was Francis Villers, excaptain of the Lake View police. His testimony was unimportant except as to the one fact that he know Dr. Cronin in his lifetime, and that as the body was being conveyed from the catch basin to the morgue he had identified it as that of the dead Doctor.

James F. Boland, cashier in a coal dealer's office, and an associate of Dr. Cronin in various secret societies, also gave testimony as to the identity of the body and te the location of Cronin's office.

Lawyer Forrest, for the defense, elicited from Boland on cross-examination the fact that, contrary te general belief, Cronin's Lawyer Forrest, for the defense, ellcited from Boland on cross-examination the fact that, contrary to general belief, Cronin's office was so situated that a view into its windows could not be obtained from the Clark-street flat, supposed to have been hired by the accused; Cronin's office not fronting on Clark street, but being in the rear of the building and facing on an aliey. Several other witnesses were examined before adjournment, their testimony relating wholly to the inding and identification of the corpse. Nothing of importance was brought out.

THE SHERIFF RETURNS has been learned that there are d WITHOUT HAZARD, THE DEMO CRATIC POLITICIAN.

the Wily Rascal, Aided by His Political Ailies, Slipped Through the Meshes of the Law-A Badly Disgusted Officer.

Sheriff Aguirre and Detective W. M. rady returned from Tacoma yester day afternoon, having been absent for fruitless effort to bring back George Hazard, under indictment in this county for embezzlement. THE TIMES gave a full description of Hazard's crime, and the Sheriff's journey a few days ago, and the difficulty they were having in securing Hazard from the clutches of his Democratic friends in A reporter of THE TIMES met the Sheriff at the Southern Pacific depot when the train arrived, and he seemed when the train arrived, and he seemed to be very glad to get back home. He said that he had had the toughest fight for a prisoner this time he ever had in his life, and while feeling dis-appointed at the result of the trip, was appointed at the result of the trip, was very complimentary in his reference to the officials at Tacoma with whom he came in contact. He spoke particularly of the favors and assistance rendered him by Sheriff Price and District Attorney F. Campbell, who were untiring in their efforts to help him get away with his man, doing their full duty.

But the disgusted expression which came over Martin's face when he referred to the Democratic politicians of Tacoma who stood in with the crook and tricked the officers, was a study.

ther the circulation of the Los Anto do more "missionary work" in the East, beyond the seas, and generally abroad, the Times-Mirror Company has concluded to make the following unexampled premium offers, good until January 1, 1890: Any city subscriber to The Times, or any person not now a city subscriber, who will pay $10.20 in advance for one year's subscription—or Tacoma who stood in with the crook and tricked the officers, was a study.

"I pointed out Hazard to the officers shortly after I arrived in Tacoma, and he was immediately arrested an dtaken to jail. Then began the fight for him. He told his friends that he knew my determination; and if they did not get him away from me at once I would have him out of Tacoma that night. Well, he was right, because I had all my arrangements made for the next train, and we would have been away from there in a few hours.

His friends dug up Judge Allen, although it was Sunday, and he issued an order. for his appearance the next day on an application for a writ of habeas corpus. That settled it, and our plans were spoiled. The next day several lawyers appeared for Hazard, but in spite of all they could do, Judge Allen denied the petition for his release. Then they moved for an appeal to the State Supreme Court at Olympia, and, strange to say, got it. States for one year, free of charge; and for $5.10 in advance The Times will be served by carrier for six pia, and, strange to say, got it. Hazard's bond was fixed at $1000, and he gave it at once. Henry Drum, Sena-tor-elect and M. Kaufman went on the bond, and Hazard was released. It was the finest work of that kind I ever

"How did Hazard get his pull?"

"I can't tell. He had it, though.
He was treasurer of the Democratic City Central Committee, and while it was said that he got away with the funds, he had their influence in some hysterious manner."

was said that he got away with the funds, he had their influence in some mysterious manner."

"Didn't they know what a clear case of embezzlement there is against him in Los Angeles?"

"Yes, they did; but the Judge helped him out just the same."

"Do they know anything about his record in the East?"

"Yes, they heard about it. It was discussed there, and I told all I knew about him. The officers were all right. They were as much disappointed as I was when the pull was made for him. They kept me there for three weeks. There was one postponement after another. I would come into court in the morning expecting to have the matter settled, when on some pretext or another there would be another postponement; and so it went. My papers were all right and in regular shape, and the only chance they had was to take advantage of some technical legal point." miume, and do not apply for any shorter period than elx months.

The appeal of the habeas corpus proceedings, in Hazard's case, is very unusual. In some States, notably in California, there is no appeal to the Supreme Court on habeas corpus, but in some States there is a provision for such an appeal, and the appeal is permissible in Washington Territory. While the Territory has been admitted as a State, it is still under Territorial law, and the appeal taken by Hazard was to the Supreme Court of the Territory. The granting of such an appeal, under the circumstances, is viewed by attorneys in Los Angeles as unusual. Hazard swere point blank in court that he was not the man wanted in Los Angeles. Sheriff Aguirre and Detective Brady both identified him positively, and one other witness, resident in Tacoma, who had seen him in The appeal of the habeas corpus proa Piles! Piles! Piles!

In connection with Hazard's reputation for slickness, a Times reporter saw a gentleman last night, who occupies a high judicial position in the city, who knew him in Indiana and also in Fresno. He knows positively of his long struggle with the courts in Indiana for crookedness in his business as a banker. He afterward met him in Fresno, and remembers distinctly his getting into trouble there. He was accused of stealing some money which he said he took from a man one night to keep it, the man being intoxicated. He was arrested and had an examination before a justice of the peace. He was a regular "Smoothy" on the stand. He referred to the wounds he had received as a solder, and there were tears in his voice. He delivered a regular oration and so worked upon the sympathies of the many strate that he let him go. But Mr. Grady didn't get his fee. Hazard's simply went to the postmaster and left an order for his mail to be forwarded to another place, and the pension money never reached the attorney.

There were present Councilmen Mc-Lain, Summerland, Hamilton, Frankenfield and Van Dusen, and Messrs

A bid of C. M. Stimson, offering a to to in East Los Angeles, was read and filed.

The bids received by the Council at the last meeting were read and referred to the subcommittees.

Mr. Gosper brought up the matter of selecting a site for the High School, and said that, before the bond election, the Board of Education resolved to leave the choice to the people; but as the board had advertised for bids and referred the matter to the City Council for it to decide, he thought an election should be called as to the site, and then an election for bonds in order to secure money with which to build.

Mr. Whaling got the foot and state of the change in the programme gave the committee only a few seconds to reach the depot, but they made it, and to go as far as Colton to arrange for selecting a site for the High School, and said that, before the bond election, the Board of Education resolved to leave the choice to the people; but as the board had advertised for bids and referred the matter to the City Council for it to decide, he thought an election should be called as to the site, and then an election for bonds in order to secure money with which to build.

After a struggle for several weeks to hide his child away from her mother Rudolph Weyse was forced to succumb to the strong arm of the law yesterday in Department No. 3 of the Superior Court. Having produced the child the kidnap-ing charge brought against Rudolph Weyse in Justice Savage's court was Weyse in Justice Savage's court was dismissed yesterday. The divorce case of Mrs. Weyse against her husband was tried and settled in short order. The charge was desertion, and Mrs. Weyse testified that her husband deserted her over a year ago without any cause. His attorney was in court, but offered no evidence and made no objection to the divorce being granted. A decree was accordingly granted, and alimony was fixed at $30 a month, with $75 attorney's fees. The action which seemed to give the complainant most satisfaction was when the Court announced the custody of the little girl would be given to her.

THE SENATES COMMITTEE ON PACIFIC BAILROADS.

They Arrive Several Hours Late, and Stay Only Five Minutes, Pushing on for Riverside and San Diego-The Local Committee See Them Off.

The Senatorial party did not reach this city until 1:10 yesterday afternoon, and only remained in the city five minutes. A few minutes before their arrival, the Chamber of Commerce Committee, which had been appointed to receive the distinguished visitors, were notified that the train would only go to the Commercial-street depot, and would leave at once for Riverside.
This change in the programme gave sheeting and said that, before the bond election, the Board of Education resolved to leave the choice to the people; but as the board had advertised for bids and referred the matter to the City Council for it to decide, he thought an election should be called as to the site, and then an election for bonds in order to secure money with which to build.

Mr. Whaling got the floor and said he wanted to impress on the minds of the Councilment he necessity of keeping the pledge, and allowing the people to make the choice. The promiss was made, said he, and should be carried out. The representative of the Eighth Ward suggested that the Castelar-street is the sold, and the money realized by the disposal of that property used for the purchase of a new lot.

Mr. Cox reminded the former speaker that the Castelar-street site could to be sold, as it had been donated for the express purpose of having a school erected on it. He said that the First and Second wards would be in favor of the express purpose of having as shool erected on, but the balance of the Castelar-street location should it be voted on, but the balance of the citizens would be against it.

Mr. Whaling sald that he was a lawyer, and gave it as his opinion that the property. Mr. Ellis said there is strong feeling against the Castelar-street site in is part of the city, and he thought the question of holding an election a very important one, and one that should be given careful consideration.

The High-school question was then dropped, and two bids which were received by the City Council on Monday, but which were mislaid, were opened and read. They were as follows:

C. B. Holmes, lot on Second and Canal streets, $4700; J. E. Yoakum, lot on Second and Pearl streets, $2900, and lot in Hollenbeck tract, $1350.

As the sub-committees were not ready to make their reports on sites, an adjournment was taken for a week.

ROBERT CAMPBELL.

The Jury Having a Hard Wrestle Over Him.

The trial of Robert Campbell, for the killing of. Hugh Boyd, near Acton, last June, went on again yesterday, be-fore Judge Shaw, and was concluded. The evidence was practically all in the day before, but some witnesses as to character were introduced yesterday morning, who swore that Hugh Boyd was a quarrelsome and dangerous man, particularly when drinking. T.
W. Lyons, the witness whom Campbell accused of trying to get him to swear falsely in a case in which Lyons was a defendant, sat by the District Attorney, inside the railing, and took great interest in the trial. The arguments in the case occupied all the great interest in the trial. The arguments in the case occupied all the afternoon, and, after quite lengthy instructions by the Court, the case was given to the jury, who retired for consultation at 5 o'clock. There was a large crowd of spectators in the courtroom during the day, and they seemed to be generally of the opinion that Campbell would not be found guilty of murder. The defendant's sister sat by his side during the day, as she has done every day during the trial, and is evidently very much distressed for the fate of her brother.

The jury did not come to an agreement before supper, and returned to their room at 7 o'clock for further consideration.

It could not be accurately learned how the jury stood in their ballots upon the case, but as they remained out hour after hour, it became evident that they would scarcely arrive at a verdict last night. At 9:30 o'clock Judge Shaw sent word to them that if they had agreed he was present to receive the verdict, but an answer came back that they had not agreed and that back that they had not agreed and that it was not possible that they would do so then. At 10 o'clock the jury was locked up for the night. At that time, as near as could be learned, they stood 11 for conviction of murder and one for acquittal. for acquittal.

OUR SENATORIAL VISITORS.

We referred a few days ago to the objects of the visit of the special com-mittee of the United States Senate on Pacific Ballroads, which was then in San Francisco, and is now in Southern California. Briefly recapitulated the whether it is true that the Central and Union Pacific railroads are unable to pay their indebtedness to the Government, and if so why not. The debt, which is increasing at the rate of almost $1,000,000 a year, amounts now to nearly $100 .-000,000. The Government was very liberal indeed to the men who built the road from Omaha to Sacramento, and has only a second mortgage to show for it, worth practically nothing. The committee will consider some plan by which the indebtedness can be gradually wiped out, as it is very evident that the money will never be repaid under the present system. Among other suggestions is that which was made by Mr. Teller, who recommended that the debt should be funded on an extension of time, and the payment of extension of time, and the payment of fixed amounts required at stated periods.

The Sanators now visiting this secondary is highly spoken of by the San Francisco press. periods

The Senators now visiting this section are, besides Senators Stanford and Hearst, Senators Turpie of Indiana, Dawes of Massachusetts, Morgan of Alabama, Frye of Maine, Platt of Connecticut, and Davis of Minnesota. Senator H. L. Dawes, who has been on the coast before, was a member of the House of Representatives of Massachusetts as far back as 1848, and took his seat in the Senate in 1875, being reëlected in 1881 and 1887.

Senator W. P. Frye was for several terms a member of the Maine State Legislature, was for three terms a member of the National Republican Executive Committee, was a delegate to the National Republican Conventions in 1872, 1876 and 1880; was in the 42d, 43d, 44th, 45th, 46th and 47th Congresses, and was elected to Mr. Blaine's vacant place in the United States Sen.

Senator O. H. Platt practiced law, was Clerk of the State Senate of Connecticut in 1855 and 1856, Secretary of State of Connecticut in 1857, men ber of State Senate in 1861 and 1862, member of the State House of Repre sentatives in 1864 and 1869, serving the last year as Speaker; was elected to the United States Senate in 1878 and reëlected.

Senator C. K. Davis, after serving in the war, settled in St. Paul, Minn., was a member of the Legislature, United States District Attorney, and ubsequently Governor of the State. Mr. Davis made the nominating speech for Blaine at the Republican National Convention at Chicago, in 1884. He is chairman of the Committee on Pen-

Senator David Turple is a native of Obio, and practiced law in Indiana. He was a member of the Legislature in 1852, was appointed Judge of the Court of Common Pleas in 1854, and of the Circuit Court in 1858, which post he resigned. He was again a member of the State House of Repesentatives in 1858, and was elected to the United States Senate from Indiana in place of Jesse D. Bright, who had been expelled, serving from January 22d till March 3, 1863. He was chosen for the full term in 1887.

The Pacific Coast Senators, Messrs Stanford and Hearst, who accompany the committee, are too well known to our readers to need any further mention here. Our distinguished visitors will certainly be made very welcome during their brief stay in this section, and we trust will carry away with them a pleasant recollection of their trip, and also become convinced that this section deserves an occasional small slice of the appropriations which Uncle Sam has to bestow.

A DANGEROUS GAME.

The Cronin jury having at length been obtained, the trial of that celebrated case has now fairly commenced. The State's Attorney, in his opening address to the jury, stated that if Cronin had published his evidence against the "Triangle" it would have "proved them traitors to the ing of a railroad from Utah to Los An- Irish cause, proved them not only embezzlers, violators of the laws of two countries, traitors to the cause in which these people had enlisted instead of doing that which was to grade a large portion of the roadbed of benefit poor old Ireland, but it would brand them the worst men on earth among the Irish people."

Meantime, from Minneapolis comes a dispatch announcing that ex-Mayor Ames, who made some remarks about "priest-ridden Ireland," on his return from Europe, has received five threatening letters, signed "Irishman," "Catholic," "Cian-na-Gael," and so forth, warning him that, if he does not leave the country, he will suffer the fate of Dr. Cronin.

This is a rather badly chosen time for such threats of violence. Recent events have rendered Americans very impatient of Irish-American secret societies, which attempt, surreptitiously, to enforce their illegal decrees mparable. It feeds the Los by deeds of violence, and by threats to deprive United States citizens of the rights of free thought and free Should any more overt acts of violence be directly traced to such organizations, that impatience will very rapidly be transformed to wrathful indignation, which will take material shape, and sweep all these un-American combinations before it, like chaff before the wind.

There is one lone Protestant missionary, recently located at San Jacinto, which indicates that the missionary spirit in California is not very active.

the missionary spirit in California is not very active.

These points suggest that it might be well for the Christian people of California to boom the education and civilization of the Indians. They have been much neglected. Here is a chance to help an active agent to elevate a class of people who, unless they have help, must remain a curse to the white civilization. Mr. Rust thinks that we certainly owe them as much as the heathen at the ends of the earth, for whom so much is done.

RAILROADINGS.

THE LOS ANGELES AND PA-CIFIC IN A HOLE,

With a Big Washout and a Strike of Its Chinese Laborers on Hand -Another Change Looked For-Other Railroad Lines All Right.

All of the washouts on the railroads, with the exception of the one on the Los Angeles and Pacific, which the managers of that road declared day before yesterday that they knew nothing about, have been repaired, and trains were running regularly yesterday afternoon.

The washout on the Los Angeles and Pacific, which occurred on the Denker ranch, near the Soldiers' Home, was much more serious than was at first believed. Apout 1000 feet of the track was washed away, and it is in such a condition that it will take several days to repair it. The worst part of the whole thing is that the Chinese laborers, who have been at work as section hands for some time past, went out on a strike yesterday, and only about 20 white men were left on the scene of the washout. The Chinamen made their way to the city, and their Chinese boss walked into the office of the company on Spring street and demanded the pay for his men. This gentle request could not be granted for the reason that Receiver Silver has not yet been instructed by the court to pay the men off. condition that it will take several days pay the men off.

The white men were at work on the washout yesterday, and the managers believe that they will stand by the company to the end. There are only about twenty men at work, but they are hard at it and may be able to repair the damage by the middle of next week.

There are all kinds of stories flying around in regard to the condition of the Los Angeles and Table. You, and the chances are that a suplete change will take place sometime next week. The employes are very anxious to know about their pay, and Mr. Silver, the receiver, is doing all in his power to bring things around so that they will get it very soon.

to bring things around so that they will get it very soon.

The San Francisco train which should have arrived here yesterday morning at 6:25 did not get in until 5 o'clock p.m. The north-bound trains left on time, however, and the trains from the south came in all right. The washouts were quite numerous, but none of them were very serious. The Rapid Transit Bailroad is runing its usual trips again.

MANAGER WADE. General Manager K. H. Wade, of the Santa Fé system on this coast, who succeeds Dan McCool, arrived last succeeds Dan McCool, arrived last night in his special oar and was driven at once to the Hollenbeck. He visited the office in the Phillips block, but failed to find Mr. McCool, who accompanied the Senatorial committee to San Diego.

from his trip and had but little to say. He will take charge of the office in a few days. The gentleman expresses himself as well pleased with what he saw of Southern California yesterday saw of Southern California yesterday and thinks he will like his new home. He does not know exactly when Mr. Manvel will be here, but thinks he will arrive about the first of November.

Mr. Wade is spoken of as one of the brightest railroad men in the United States, and it is believed by the local officials that he will soon put the coast lines out of their present difficulties, and put them in a way to pay their way. President Manvel, who was recently elected president of the entire Santa Fé system, will be here about the first of president of the entire Santa Fé sys-tem, will be here about the first of next month, and the California lines will then be consolidated. This move will greatly reduce the running ex-pense of the roads, and things should go much smoother than in the past. SOLDIERS' HOME.

There is a heavy grade where the accident occurred, and the train was running 40 miles an hour, when the engineer saw the switch was partly thrown. He immediately applied the air brakes, but there was no time to check the train.

After the accident an investigation showed that the switch lock had been broken by train-wreckers, a boulder, with which the lock was pounded, being found near by.

St. Louis, Oct. 24.—[By the Associate ST. LOUIS, Oct. 24.—[By the Associated Press.] The Interstate Wheat-growers met again today. Robert Lindbloom, a Chicago wheat speculator, made a speech, in which he gave the speculators' side of the wheat question. He said the monopolists had taught society a lesson that would in time make monopoly an impossibility; that was the lesson of coperation. The lesson taught by trusts was cooperation. There was no foundation for the cry of overprotaught by trusts was cooperation. There was no foundation for the cry of overproduction. In five years, while the production of wheat decreased 2½ per cent., the price decreased 25 per cent. The speaker then went on to show that there and been no overproduction in other countries.

President Colman, ex-Secretary of Agriculture, then addressed the convention from a free-trade standpoint. He denounced the way farmers are used by the present Administration, and the protective policy, and said the only way to protect their interests was to adopt free trade. He assailed the elevator combines, pools, commission men and speculators as robbers of the farmers.

The Committee on Resolutions then presented a resolution.

That the farmers of the States lying in the Mississippi and Missouri River valleys and of the States of Oregon, Washington and California in national convention assembled hereby memorialize Congress and the President of the United States and most seriously petition them to make such reciprocity treaties with those foreign nations to whom we ship our surplus farm products as will cause such foreign nations to remove the customs duties from our farm products shipped abroad, thereby causing us to receive a higher price for our foreign farm surplus, and thereby fixing a higher price upon all that we sell at home;

"That we ask that such steps be taken by our National Congress as will destroy the present existing monopolies and trusts and prevent the formation of others, and so that we may get our farming implements or raw materials used in their manufacture."

An animated debate followed, which was decidedly political in character. The Free-traders greatly outnumbered the Protectionists, and the resolutions were finally adopted by a large majority.

The triennial pastoral letter of the church was read tonight. Among other things, it touches upon civil service reform, saying the church does not undertake the warfare of a partisan, but would leave an important duty undone if it did not exercise care for the political as well as the ecclesiastical welfare of the State. Official place, says the letter, should not be won by vulgar incompetence. Up to the fourth inning the local team had things their own way, but in that inning the tide was turned in favor of the Oaklands by a bad pitch of Clark, which gave Hardie the initial and practically won the game for the Oaklands, who scored two runs and tied the score. By a series of heavy hits the Oaklands added two runs in the sixth. The score was again tied in the first half of the seventh by the local team and the winning run was made by the Oaklands in the last half of the seventh.

BOSTON, Oct. 24.—[By the Associated Press.] The report of a traffic agreement between the Union Pacific and Chicago and Northwestern is confirmed at the Unior Pacific office today. The agreement is for 10 years and covers 30 closely-printed pages There is a longer agreement between the Omaha and Republican Valley and the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha. The joint line via Sloux City, Iowa, is to be The joint line via Sloux City, Iowa, is to be known as the Lake Superior, St. Paul and Union Pacific line. The agreement between the Northwestern and Union Pacific establishes a line via Council Bluffs to be known as the Chieago, Union Pacific and Northwestern line. The entire systems are parties to the contract except in case of the Kanass division of the Union Pacific, which at no point connects with the Northwestern. The agreement provides for joint tariffs and trains, settlement of disputes, divisions of equipment, rates under competitions of equipment, rates under competition, and that no competition shall have advantages over the parties to this agreement, which goes into effect Nevember 1st. The agreement nowhere goes east of Chicago, but it is though the move can ultimately mean nothing less than a through line from ocean to ocean by way of Boston and Albany and the Vanderbill lines.

DEPEW SAYS IT IS TRUE.

DEPEW SAYS IT IS TRUE. NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—President Depew, of the New York Central, said today, re-NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—President Depew. of the New York Central, said today, referring to a statement in a morning paper that there had been an alliance made between the Chicago and Northwestern and Union Pacific: "The statement is correct. There has been a traffic arrangement made between the roads, but nothing further has been done and I have nothing further has been done and I have nothing to add."

The traffic agreement has created a great deal of discussion among railroad officials of this city. Vice-president Sykes, of the Northwestern road, said tonight that the contract is not an exclusive arrangement between both roads in the sense of either road refusing to handle the business of other competitors. The Rock Island and Burlington have western connections of their own and the alliance between the Northwestern and Union Pacific is simply in the line of similar arrangements already made by other systems. The arrangement does not go east of Chicago and Vice-president Sykes said he had no knowledge that the allied lines intended to make eastern connections.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—Regarding the published statement in connection with the reported consolidation of western rail-roads that heavy transfers of Chicago, Burlington and Quincy stock to the names of capitalists identified with the Pennsylvania Railroad or its officials are concerned no purchase of Chicago, Burlington and Quincy stock has been made, nor was any deal between the two companies contemplated.

THE TALK AT SAN FRANCISCO. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—The telegraphic report from the East of a traffic alli-ance between the Union Pacific and North-ance between the Union Pacific and North-western railroads is readily believed by railway officials in San Francisco. General Manager Towne of the Southern Pacific thinks the alliance is only natural and is not surprised at the news. W. A. Bissell, Pacific Coast manager of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, states that last June a traffic alliance of the entire Santa Fé system with the Northwestern was entered into, but now the latter has given notice of its intention to withdraw from said agreement, and in accordance with the terms of the contract the agreement will ex-pire the first of next month.

An Embezzler Arrested CHICAGO, Oct. 24.-Newton R. Hatch, an ex-cashier of the New York office of the Baltimore and Ohio Express Company, was arrested here tonight. He is charged with having embezzled $8000 of the company's funds a year ago and fleeing to Canada. While in Toronto, it is claimed, he secured several thousand dollars' worth of goods under false pretenses. Hatch had established himself here as a real-estate agent, under the name of G. P. Frice.

Washington, Oct. 24.—[By the Associated Press.] One of the topics to be treated at length in the forthcoming report of Secretary Proctor is that of army enlistments. Increased appropriation will be asked to carry into effect the suggestions for improvement in the present system. The Secretary will, whether the appropriation is increased or not, put into practice next year a scheme, from the workings of which he confidently expects great improvement. That is to send to encampments of the National Guard of the several States recruiting officers, who will be authorized to enlist members of the guard, and this class of recruits, the Secretary believes, will be vastly cruits, the Secretary believes, will be vastly superior to the ordinary recruit and not be susceptible to the temptation to desert. STEAM VESSELS.

Annual Report of the Supervising

Inspector.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—[By the Associated Press.] The annual report of the Supervising Inspector of Steam Vessels shows that during 15 years past the number of steam vessels in the United States has increased from 3885 in 1874 to 6725 in 1889, and the gain in licensed officers in the same period is from 14,571 to 31,622. During the past fiscal year there were 32 accidents to steam vessels, resulting in the loss of 301 lives, of whom 92 were passengers and 209 lives, of whom 92 were passengers and 209 employés.

Gen. Dumont calls attention to the great inequalities of salaries paid to officers, and says the law should be remedied either by paying all salaries alike or in proportion to the number of steamers inspected. He renews his previous recommendations for a change in the manner of appointing local inspectors as now provided by law, and says if the matter is not soon remedied by proper legislation the public interest will sooner or later be seriously jeopardized. He would have the nominations of inspectors made by the Supervising Inspector alone, and the latter would then be solely responsible if unsuitable appointments were made.

Calling attention to the class of vessels using naphtha gas as motive power, and the appailing accidents which have befallen some of them, he recommends that all vessels using such or other dangerous motors be brought within the provisions of the law governing steam vessels.

KENTUCKY CLANS.

Further Accounts of the Recent Sanguinary Affray. Authorities (Ky.), Oct. 24.—[By the Associated Press.] A special this morning gives a corrected statement of the killed and wounded in the factional fight near Harlan Courthouse yesterday. Two hours before daylight the law and order party, hitherto styled the Turner faction of Harlan county, 50 men in all, armed with Winchester rifles and revolvers, under the lead-ership of County Judge Lewis, left the courthouse and made an assault on the courthouse and made an assault on the Howard forces, in camp near E. M. Howard's house, a mile from town.

The engagement was short, sharp and terrific. Not one of the attacking party was hurt. One of Howard's side, Millard, is dead. He was instantly killed. Six others are wounded. Among the wounded are Bird Spurlock and Robert Napler, whose injuries are mortal. Ben Mitchell and George Cole were shot in the legs. Thomas Howard has a flesh wound in the thigh. Jim Spurlock had a close call. A bullet grazed his temple, tearing away a handful of hair and a few inches of skin, but not fracturing the skull. Will Jennings was shot through the hand. It was reported that Wilson Howard was mortally wounded, but advices later are that he escaped unhurt. The Howard gang is badly demoralized. On Tuesday night they changed camp to a point about three miles from the courthouse.

Austria Ready to Withdraw from Her Alliance with Italy—New Rail-way Projects in Central America.

By Telegraph to the Times,

LONDON, Oct. 24.—[By the Associated Press.] The Parnell Commission resumed ittings today. Joseph Biggar, member of Parliament, who appears in his own behalf, ddressed the commission. Michael Davitt

He said in addressing the c that he was running counter to the opinion of the people of Ireland, who indorsed his withdrawal from the cause of Parnell and his colleagues. He was impelled to the course he had adopted by two cardinal principles of his life, religious adherence to truth and justice and defense of the charactruth and justice and defense of the character and cause of the Irish peasantry. Davit declared that although he was no lenger a Fenian, if the condition of Ireland was the same as it was 25 years ago he would be a Fenian again. Some of the aims of the Fenians, he said, had been fulfilled already. The Land League, based on the same patriotic spirit, was fast removing the barriers which prevented Great Britain giving justice to Ireland. The day is fast approaching when Dublin Castie will quietly submit to the fate of the Irish church. At the very time the Fenian outrages were being committed the Manchester Trade Commission was in session, and evidence was given before it showing that the worst kind of outrages were committed there, for which outrages were committed there, for which outrages no ne was ever brought to justice. He denied the statement of Patrick Delaney, the convicted dynamiter, who was brought from Ireland to London to testify for the Times, that the amnesty movement was under Fenian control, and accused Delaney of wilful, deliberate perjury. His agent, he declared, had done more to keep alive the national antiparty of the Irish in America than the brutal language used by the Times with regard to the extermination of the people of Ireland resulting from a great famine.

Davitt said he had not indorsed Ford's dynamite views, and he believed he had converted Ford to constitutional methods. He denied the Times' allegation that he had started the league with money subscribed in America for the purpose of crime and outrage. He read letters from Germans, from Frenchmen, Americans and Englishmen, inclosing funds and urging him to continue the fight on the land question.

The American Federation's Call for the Boston Convention.

New York City, Oct. 15, 1889.

To the Working People of America—GREETING: The fourth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor will be called to order at 10 o'clock on the morning of Tuesday, December 10, 1889, at Well's Memorial Hall, 987 Washington street, Boston, Mass.

In Issuing this call the executive of take the opportunity of congratulating their fellow-laborers upon the remarkable success which has attended their efforts to unite the hitherto scattered union, the most bitterly attacked and denounced institution in the world's history, has successfully withstood the open assaults of capitalists and politicians, while calmly repelling the secret machinations of conspirators within the very cordon of the camp of labor. Suffice it then to say that the workers have realized that the men who are employed in any particular branch of industry understand the nature of it, and are better qualified to adjust any difficulties which may arise with their employers, than men who are unacquainted with the conditions of that business; that reckless are disastrous in the extreme, and generally result in the workmen going back to work upon the employers terms; and finally, the workers are convinced that open organization, and that the time has now arrived to openly, calmly and fearlessly assert the claims of labor.

when the soul of that organ entered heaven I think Handel and Haydn and Mozart and Mendelssohn and Beethoven were at the gates to welcome it. So I do not use the words of my text. In a heartless way, but in the sense that we must not and will not be sense that we must not and will not be diverted from our work by the appalling disasters which have befallen us. We will not turn aside one inch from our determination to do all we can for our determination to do all we can for the present and everlasting happiness of all the people whom we may be able to meet. "None of these things move me! None of these things move you!" When I looked out through the dis-mal rain from the roof of my house and saw the church crumbling brick by brick and timber by timber, I said to myself: Does this mean that my work in Brooklyn is ended? Does this terminate my association with this city.

terminate my association with this city, where I have been more than twenty years, glad in all its prosperities and sad in all its misfortunes? And a still sad in all its misfortunes? And a still small voice came to me, a voice that is no longer still or small, but most emphatic and commanding, through pressure of hand, and newspaper column, and telegram and letter and contributions, saying: "Go forward!"

I have made and I now make appeal to all Christendom to help us. We want all Christendom to help and I will acknowledge the receipt of every contribution, great or small, with my will acknowledge the receipt of every contribution, great or small, with my own hand. We want to build larger and better. We want it a national church in which people of all creeds, and all nations, may find a home. The contributions already sent in make a small-hearted church forever impossible. Would not I be a sorry spectacle for angels and men if in a church built by Israelites and Catholics, as well as all the styles of people commonly called evangelical, I should, instead of the banner of the Lord God Almighty, raise a fluttering rag of small sectaraise a fluttering rag of small secta-rianism? If we had $300,000 we would put them all in one great monument to the mercy of God. People ask on all sides about what we shall build. I answer, it all what we shall build. I answer, it all depends on the contributions sent in from here and from the ends of the earth. I say now to all the Baptists, that we shall have in it a baptistry. I say to all Episcopalians, we shall have in our services as heretofore at our communion-table portions of the liturgy. I say to the Catholics, we shall have a cross over the pulpit and probably on the tower. I say to the Methodists, we mean to sing there like the voice of mighty thunderings. I Methodists, we mean to sing there like the voice of mighty thunderings. I say to all denominations, we mean to preach a religion as wide as heaven and as good as God. We have said we had a total loss. But there was one exception. The only thing we saved was the silver communion chalices, for they happened to be in another building, and I take that fact as typical that we are to be in communion with all take our church parlors, you may baptize in our baptistries, and sit on our anxious-seats." Oh! if there be any larger-hearted ministers or larger-hearted churches anywhere than in Brooklyn, tell me where they are, that I may go and see them before I die. The millennium has come. People keep wondering when it is coming. It has come. The lion and the lamb lie down together, and the tiger eats straw like an ox. I should like to have seen two of the old-time bigots, with their swords, fighting through that great fire on Schermerhorn street last Sabbath. I am sure the swords would have melted, and they who wielded them would have learned war no more. I can never say a word against any other denomination of Christians. I thank God I never have been tempted to do it. I cannot be a sectarian. I have been told I ought to be, and I have tried to be; but I have not enough material in me to make such a structure. Every time I get the thing most done, there comes a fire, or something else; and all is gone. The angels of God shake out on this air, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." I do not know, but I see on the horizon the first gleam of the morning which shall unite all denominations in one organifirst gleam of the morning which shall unite all denominations in one organization, distinguished only by the local-away your knapsack if it impedes your march. Keep your sword-arm free. Strike for Christ and His kingdom while you may. No people ever had a better mission than you are sent on. Prove yourselves worthy. If I am not fit to be your leader, set me aside. The brightest goal on earth that I can think of is a country parsonage amids. The brightest goal on earth that I can think of is a country parsonage amidst the mountains. But I am not afraid to lead you. I have some dollars; they are at your disposal. I have good physical health; it is yours as long as it lasts. I have enthusiasm of soul; I lasts. I have some faith in God, and I shall in direct it toward the rebuilding of our in new spiritual house. Come on, go aged men, not yet passed over Jordan! I will lead you. Come on, ye aged men, not yet passed over Jordan! I dive us one more lift before you go into the promised land. You men in mid-life, harness all your business if aculties to this enterprise. Young man, put the fire of your soul in this work. Let women consecrate their persuasiveness and persistence to this course, and they will be preparing if benedictions for their dying hour and everlasting rewards: and if Satan really did burn that Tabernacle down, as some people say he did, he will find it the poorest job he ever undertook. Good-by, old Tabernacle! I put my fingers to my lip and throw a kiss to the departed church. In the last day, let the course of the departed church. In the last day, let the course of the departed church.

Good-by, old Tabernacle! I put my fingers to my lip and throw a kiss to the departed church. In the last day, may we be able to meet the songs there sung, and the prayers there offered, and the sermons there preached. Goodby, old place, where some of us first felt the gospel peace, and others heard the last message ere they fled away into the skies! Good-by, Brooklyn Tabernacle of 1873! But welcome our new church (I see it as plainly as though it were already built)! inite all denominations in one organization, distinguished only by the locality, as in apostolic times. It was then the Church of Thyatira, and the Church of Antioch, and the Church of Laodicea. So I do not know but that in the future history, and not far off either, it may be simply a distinction of locality, and not of creed, as the Church of New York, the Church of Brooklyn, the Church of Boston, the Church of Madras, the Church of Boston, the Church of Charleston, the Church of Madras, the Church of Constantinople, the Church of America.

My dear brethren, we cannot afford to be severely divided. Standing in front of the great foes of our common Christianity, we want to put on the whole armor of God, and march down in solid column, shoulder to shoulder! one commander! one triumph!

"The trumpet gives a martial strain O Israel! gird thee for the fight:

Good-by, old Tabernacle! I put my lip and throw a kiss to the departed church. In the last day, may we be able to meet the songs there divided and the prayers there offered, and the sermons there preached. Now come the California days. Does are being poisoned around town. Look out for thieves!

PSAADENA should have a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals: not because we are any more cruel than other cities, but because such a society is a part of the great moral outfit of a community, and is useful in

THE establishment of a new firstelass notel in Pasadena has some significance. It shows that eastern capitalists believe that Pasadena is on the rise, and propose to assist in the opera-tion. The Webster is well arranged and finely situated for a first-class com-club has on its rolls many Pasadena in the Mebster is well arranged and finely situated for a first-class commercial hostelry.

The appointment of H. N. Rust of this city as Indian Agent is a most fortunate one, and the Interior Department may be congratulated on having its interests in the hands of a gentleman who is thoroughly posted in Indian matters. Mr. Rust's studies in the archæological field have brought him in contact with our native tribes for years, and probably no person on this coast is so familiar with their wants and requirements. His sympathies are with the ludians, and he proposes to see that they obtain complete justice and fair treatment, and the squatters and boomers on Indian land in this State will have to go, and go now. He is one of the early citizens had the pleasure of meeting him through the courtesy of the club, while Tom Nast and other well-known people have been honored gueests during past seasons. The president of the coming winter will probably exceptions, card parties and suppers, that add greatly to the social life during the winter. The receptions tendered distinguished visitors here show one phase of the club's usefulness. Charles blickens, Jr., was so entertained, and one the squatters and boomers on Indian land in this State will have to go, and go now. He is one of the early citizens had the pleasure of meeting him through the courtesy of the club, while Tom Nast and other well-known people have been honored gueests during past seasons. The president of the natural dividing up of the comminity into organizations for pleasure. The nearest approach to the metropolitate club has beautiful rooms, where members can invite their friends. The Pickwick gives during friend broughout the State as an unfinching Republican of the old Abolitionist schoot. He is a good organizer and manager, and will effect many desired reforms to the advantage of these people, who have been swindled from time immemorial. Mr. Rust is the president of the Pasadena Library Association, vice-president of the Academy of Sciences, and has the finest collection of Indian and other antiquities west of the Smithsonian Institution.

WITHIN three months we shall have one or two rapid transit roads cornecting this city with Los Angeles. This means four roads between Pasadena and its suburbs, leading to a city of 75,000 inhabitants: The Southern Pacific at Ramons and San Gabriel, three miles from the postonice; the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Ffe, running through the heart of the city, and the Spence and Cross roads as simple rapid transit roads. At present the existing road permits us to go to Los Angeles seven times daily. With the additional roads it will be possible, by an arrangement of time-tables, for business men to reach the city every half hour. The result will be that we shall obtain large numbers of residents from business people in the city; not that Los Angeles is not desirable, but because there are many persons who prefer a suburban residence and more room to breathe in, and wish to educate their children out of the first meet of this club is held the first meet of this club is held the first sturday in November.

Last year a Gentlemen's Riding Club to complete the coming winter will probably set those previously given.

The club also owns a pack of nine fox-hounds, the Club probabl sons who prefer a suburban residence and more room to breathe in, and wish to educate their children out of the city. To such Pasadena offers every possible inducement. Her school facilities, public and private, are unrivaled in the country for a city of this size. We have a pure social and public atmosphere, and our life and its conditions are such as to attract instead of repel. With these magnets and perfect transportation facilities, there perfect transportation facilities, there can be but one result—Pasadena will increase in population in a marvelous way, and our citizens who have cenfidence, who have nailed their faith to the mast, are the ones who have aided in the consummation, and deserve the credit. We were fortunate in observing the results of rapid transit (elevated roads) in upper New York and Brooklyn. The outcome was marvelous. Property advanced, people moved out where there was more room, and the outlying towns of Harlem, East New York, were swallowed up in the wave of population that swept over the rails of the rapid transit road. Pasadena cannot be incorporated with Los Angeles, but it will so increase in size that in five years the old "boomers" think that some of their prices were not so high after all. The tide of prosperity is setting in, and despite the predictions of a few chronic pessimists, the outlook is promising and justifies the confidence eastern capitalists are showing in our future.

THE SOCIAL AND OTHER OR-GANIZATIONS IN THE CITY.

The Valley Hunt, Tennis, Pickwick, Gentlemen's, Riding, Vis-a-Vis and Gun and Hunt Clubs-Academy of Sciences, Etc. - Points About Them All.

Club life in Pasadena has not yet developed into any organization that resembles the California of Los Angeles or other metropolitan societies, though an attempt was made some months since in the Union Club, in which the men prominent in business, society and politics were interested. This movement, which was handicapped by financial depression, would undoubtedly have been a good thing for the city; but at present it is doubtful if such an organization could be supported, especially as the California Club has on its rolls many Pasadena club men. Club life here partakes of

The Tennis Club, which numbers about 50 members, is very popular. It has one of the finest courts in the State has one of the finest courts in the State adjoining the Channing estate on Walnut street. The club has regular days for playing, but the court is occupied almost every day by devotees of the sport. The prominent active members are Messrs. Suesserott, C. S. Martin, Barnes, Scharff, Van Doren, Abbot Kinney, Channing and Lindsay, the Misses Cooley, Shoemaker, Patton, Bradley, English and many more. The president of the club is C. F. While his "Reverence" was getting his work in, her children were not slow in their silent yet effective movements. They called in the aid of the police authorities, who communicated with the home authorities. His "Reverence" returned to the home with a police secort. Even this did not break him down. He started up in the pension-claim business, and had many clients among the colored people. THE 25TH OF OCTOBE

HENRY KNOX, the Revol General and statesman, was born at Boston July 25, 1750, and died Octo-ber 25, 1806. In early life he was a book-seller, and fought at the battle of Bunker Hill. Having gained dis-book-seller, and fought at the battle of Bunker Hill. Having gained distinction as an engineer and artillery officer, he was in 1775 made commander of artillery, and in the year following was promoted to the grade of brigadier-general. He fought at Trenton, Princeton, Brandywine and Monmouth, contributed to the victory of Yorktown in October, 1781, and was soon after commissioned a major-general. He became Secretary of War in 1785, and was reappointed to the same position by President Washington in 1789. He was a Federalist in politics and was the esteemed and confidential friend of Gen. Washington.

October 25th is ST. Crispinian were natives of Rome, and having become converts to Christianity, traveled northward into France to propogate the faith. They fixed their residence at Scissons, where they preached to the people during the day, and at night earned their subsistence by the making of shoes. They furnished the poor with shoes at a very low price, and the legend relates that an angel supplied them with leather. In the persecution under the Emperor Maximian, they suffered martyrdom in the year 287.
From time immemorial, Crispin and Crispinian have been regarded as the patron saints of shoemakers, who used to observe, and still in many places celebrate, the day with great festivity and rejoicings. One special ceremony was a grand procession of the brethren of the craft, with banners and music,

GEOFFREY CHAUCER, the earliest and one of the greatest of English poets, was born in London in 1340, and died October 25, 1400. The date and place of his birth are disputed questions. It is well known, however, that Chaucer gained at the court of Edward III. substantial recognition, holding a succession of offices in the nature of creditable sinecures which were intended to afford the poet a competence without toil. Chaucer himself informs us 'that the 'profits of his numerous royal grants enabled him to live with dignity and hospitality. During Richard II.'s reign, however, the influence of John, Duke of Gaunt, declined, and in consequence the means of Chaucer became considerably straitened. Becoming later involved in Wicklifflte disturbances, Chaccer had to fly from London. Venturing to return some time after he was seized and imprisoned in the Tower, where the rigor of his confinement induced him to give information against others of the proscribed sect, and he thus regained his, liberty. The poet spent the remainder of his life in retirement, and during this period seems to have written much if not the whole of his "Canterbury Tales."

On the morning of the 25th of October, 1760, George II. expired suddenly at Kensington, at the age of 76. The cause of death was the rupture of the right ventricle of the heart. Though never a popular sovereign, the glories attending the British arms during the latter years of George II.'s reign were such as to conciliate largely the affection of his subjects. Frugal to penuriousness, cholerio and by no means correct in moral deportment, he was nevertheless, honest and open in character, and possessed of considerable personal courage, as evinced by his bravery at the battle of Dettingen. Two years before his death, George II. had been attacked by serious illness, which, it was expected, would prove fatal; but he rallied and regained for a short time the enjoyment of good he Rainy Weather Makes Shoppin Disagreeable - A Few of the Articles That 10c Will Buy -Remnant Day.

PROPLE'S STORE,

LOS ANGLES, Oct. 25, 1889.

Here we are again! Had to stay home for awhile, but we will pop out after the rain—guring the muddy, slushy and rainy weather we thought it best to stay indoors and not go visiting. Sometimes we think this continual rossip will irre you, nevertheless we try to talk as interestingly as possible—but like all continual talkers sometimes, perhaps, we get off the track, but make speedy strices to gain our ba ance. Today our Mrs. Grundy says; "O dear me, just let's go down to the People's Store, for it's Friday, and you know it is their remnsnt day. Well, the counters are just piled sky-high with bargains of every kind, and I can always find lots of cheap things there. And then don't you know it'll pay you to take a peep at their show-windows. It nearly took my breath awey—such piles of things, all for 10c. I wanted, to buy lots of them, but they wouldn't sell anything till monday." Yes, reader, Mrs. Grundy is right; next Monday will be the eighthanniversary of the opening of the doors of the People's Store, and we're going to give our patrons a treat. First we thought of distributing the tiems in some novel way, but wisely concluded to just charge a triffe. So, Monday, for 10c you'll buy items worth 50c, worth 25c. Will tell you more about it tomorrow.

Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and he often expresses his astoniahment at his remarkable tendency to coutract a fresh cold. Indeed he deciares he is scarcely fresh cold. Indeed he deciares he is caracely fresh cold. Indeed he deciares he is coarcely fresh cold. Indeed he deciares he is coarcely fresh cold and the throat.

At times many of the symptoms of catarrh may seem to abate, and the patient is led to hepe that the disease is about to wear off; but another class of symptoms soon appear, and he learns to his horror that instead of recovery from the disease it is somewhat changed in its character, and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is sometimes from the disease it is sometimes from the disease it is sometimes from the disease of the sense of the disease may have been slow, and the patient may, in expressing his confident hope that it will "wear off." declare that he has had the catarrh for years and has not seemed to become much worse, and trusts he will "by and by" recover. But this delusion is the grand error which has peopled our cemeter-se with consumptive form, as all forms of catarrh end finally in consumption.

The great danger, however, because the most common, is that it will extend downward and affect the turns. In most cases of the s
